You can create a list of your cited publications and see your h-index using the Scopus database. If you have an ORCID identifier, use that to create your citation information.

Viewing your cited publications

- From the Library homepage > Databases > Search by databases A-Z list > S > Scopus
- Select Authors search which will search for all variations of the name
- Enter your Last Name/Family Name and Initial(s), name of affiliation/university or ORCID id

The search results include all authors whose authors contain that name. Select the sets that are appropriate and select Show documents

- Sort the list by Times cited – Cited by (highest)
To view your total number of citations and h-index

- From the list of publications select your name to view your author profile and h-index
